

SBU dedicates Judy Taylor garden, PT Faculty Practice

Southwest Baptist University held a dedication and ribbon cutting ceremony for the Judy Taylor Physical Therapy Garden and the Warren B. Davis Family Physical Therapy Center Faculty Practice on Oct. 6 at the facility at 2103 S. Springfield Ave., Bolivar.

The 2,700-square-foot Faculty Practice will be a student-learning lab that utilizes select patients from the surrounding community, incorporates high-level care for patients and provides invaluable learning experiences for students.

The Faculty Practice will serve two purposes for patients in the Bolivar area, said SBU President C. Pat Taylor, Ed.D., “to help people improve their health and to be a teaching facility.”

Other departments, including SBU’s social work program, will be working with patients to provide holistic care. Innovative equipment, such as the Enliten LLC Open Area Support System (OASUS), will help patients receive proper care in the practice. The open-spaced clinic includes two treatment rooms, a sports performance area and consultation rooms.

Dr. Steve Lesh, chair and professor of physical therapy, approached Dr. Taylor with the idea of developing a physical therapy rehabilitation garden to honor SBU’s late first lady Judy Taylor. Funds were raised, “and today, here we are,” Dr. Taylor said. “I guarantee you Judy Taylor would love this.”

The garden was built to assist patients with gait difficulties by incorporating a variety of terrains, ramps and walking paths. The garden is located in front of the Davis Family Physical Therapy Center.

Valerie Waddell, a second-year doctor of physical therapy student and SBU Ambassador, helped care for Judy Taylor, who battled a rare neurological disease, for a few months during 2014. Waddell described her time with Judy as “inspiring and invaluable.”

“She was the most gracious person that I could have asked for,” Waddell said, “to be someone that I was able to care for. She inspired me to become what I want to become. She was a key part in me pursuing my future career as a physical therapist. She inspires me to work hard for what I want and to pour out myself for what I believe in. I could just imagine that she would be out here every week weeding the garden and making it more beautiful because that’s what she loved to do.”

Lesh, whose vision was sparked by Judy Taylor’s dedication to the beautification of the SBU campus, described his impressions of Judy’s “culture of beautification.”

“The amazing thing about it is that she just wouldn’t talk about it, she would get down in the dirt and make it happen,” Lesh said. “I loved the dedication, I loved the passion, I loved the energy. I loved the fact that she would both lead and serve, by getting down on her knees and pulling weeds.”

The garden will also be certified as a monarch butterfly way station.

“The butterfly way station is a fitting way to honor Judy for several reasons,” said Dr. Brad Johnson, vice president for university relations. “Number 1, like the monarch, she was a wonderful spirit – beautiful, both inside and out. And like the monarch, she invested sacrificially to make a better path for those who would follow her. Without question, Judy has left a lasting legacy and lives have been forever changed because of her influence.

“And finally, the butterfly is a symbol for Christian life. Judy knew that death here on earth was indeed not the end. For those of us who know Christ as our Savior will pass from this shell – a chrysalis – into something even more beautiful in eternity.”

Dr. Taylor said that Judy loved beauty that served a function.

“Judy believed that everything should have a function,” Taylor said, “and this garden is beautiful, but it does have a function. And I’m very pleased that the very first patient that went through a rehab assignment here was her good friend, Ronda Credille. Most of you know Ronda and the injury she suffered and how valiantly she has fought through that. And I know Judy was smiling when she saw Ronda here.

“Judy would be thrilled with this and she would want it to help people.” ■

SBU awards alumni honors, recognizes Dr. Taylor during Homecoming

Three Southwest Baptist University alumni were honored for living lives of service, and C. Pat Taylor, Ed.D., was recognized for his 20th anniversary as SBU president at Honors Chapel during Homecoming festivities Sept. 30 and Oct. 1.

Alumni Life Service Awards

Inspired by the Life Beautiful Award presented each year to one male and one female graduate, President John Dowdy suggested to the Southwest Baptist College Board of Trustees in 1955 that the Life Service Award be given annually to graduates whose lives have exemplified the principles which are upheld at Southwest. The award is the highest recognition that the University can bestow upon an alumnus or alumna.

Edwin Lightfoot Distinguished Alumni Award

The Alumni Association presents the Edwin Lightfoot Distinguished Alumni Award annually to an alumnus or alumna who demonstrates the ideals personified by the late Edwin Lightfoot '40. The award criteria include alumni leadership in the University, dedication to the education and welfare of youth, and demonstrated support for SBU.

To nominate an alumnus for the Life Service Award or the Edwin Lightfoot Distinguished Alumni Award for 2017, fill out a nomination form by March 10, 2017 at www.SBUiv.edu/alumni/alumni-association/index.php.

GRAHAM WILLIAMS '54

EDWIN LIGHTFOOT DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARD RECIPIENT

Graham Williams received his associate of arts degree from Southwest Baptist College in 1954, his bachelor of science in education from Southeast Missouri State University, and his master of science in education from the University of Missouri.

Williams serves on the Governor's Advisory Committee and is a trustee on the Board of Advisors for Windermere Conference Center. He also volunteers at the Capital Region Medical Center, and is involved in Cantorum, the Jefferson City choral group. He was inducted to the Special Olympics of Missouri Hall of Fame in 2005, where he serves on the board.

Williams and his wife Geri have two children, Greg and Glenna. They also were blessed with seven grandchildren. They attend First Baptist Church in Jefferson City.

"The matter of selling is based upon you having a good product to sell. SBU is that product, always has been, always will be," he wrote. "It was natural for me to extol the benefits of this institution. I am grateful for my experience here at SWBC/SBU and I am honored to accept the Edwin Lightfoot Distinguished Alumni Award."

SBUlife highlights the University's mission: to be a Christ-centered, caring academic community preparing students to be servant leaders in a global society. SBU does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, national origin, gender, age, marital status or disability. Any person having inquiries regarding this may contact Tara Parson (417) 328-1511.

DENNIS OWENS '78

LIFE SERVICE AWARD RECIPIENT

Dennis Owens earned his bachelor of arts degree in religion and psychology from SWBC in 1978. He currently serves as the President and co-owner of Fresh Ideas Food Management. His history in the food service industry began when he was an SBU student manager in Mellers Dining Commons. He also serves as secretary of the Bristol Park Community Association. Previously, he served as a member of the 30th Circuit Youth Advisory Board.

Owens attends High Street Baptist Church in Springfield, with his wife, Brenda Owens '82. They were blessed with two children, Esther and Zach '04, and two granddaughters, Frances and Sophia and grandson, Max.

"I have witnessed many outstanding faculty, staff, and administrators devote their lives and energy to growing and sustaining the spirit of the University that attracted me to her those many years ago," he wrote.

"I believe in Southwest, and I believe in its mission," Owens added, upon receiving the award. "It's an honor for me to be considered a distinguished alumnus. My advice is very simple: Always follow God's direction. Always follow God's leadership."

RICHARD WRIGHT '81

LIFE SERVICE AWARD RECIPIENT

Richard Wright earned his bachelor of arts degree in religious studies and speech communication/theatre from SBU in 1981, and his M.Div. from Midwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in 1984. He attends First Baptist Church of West Plains, where he was the lead pastor for 10 years. Since 1997, he has been chairman of the Missions Committee for the Baptist Convention of New England. Wright also served as the President of the Baptist Convention of New England from 1995-1997.

He continues to live out his life of service as he works as a paraprofessional at West Plains High School for students with special needs. Wright is married to Jacklyn Wright '79, '14. They were blessed with three children, Nathan

'05, Angela '07, '08, and Jonathan '12. They have one grandson, Jude.

"SBU has a special place in my heart," he wrote. "It is here I not only received my education and degree, but more importantly, where I met my wife, learned about God and myself, and where a foundation was formed for a life of service.

"My acceptance of this Life Service Award is another reminder to me of God's endless grace. Every act of service has been because of God's giftedness to me."

Due to unforeseen circumstances, Richard will receive his award during Homecoming 2017.

C. PAT TAYLOR, ED.D.

20 YEARS AS SBU PRESIDENT

Dr. C. Pat Taylor began his presidency on October 21, 1996 as the 24th president of Southwest Baptist University. Since his arrival in 1996, Dr. Taylor's leadership has grown the university and established a commitment to truly be a university that is Christ-centered, caring and academic in all areas.

Taylor has awarded more than 15,000 diplomas to SBU graduates and has been instrumental in the success of major fundraising campaigns and growing the University's endowment from $4.6 million to about $29 million. Alumni and current students of SBU often comment on the impact Dr. Taylor has made on them personally. He has always been a president who is known among the students.

"Southwest Baptist University would not be one of the top Christian universities in the nation if it were not for Pat Taylor's leadership abilities," said Don Farhni, chairman of the SBU Board of Trustees. "With his 20 years of dedicated service, the University continues to thrive."

Dr. Taylor and his wife, Judy, were married for 47 years before she passed away on March 26, 2016 after courageously battling a rare neurological disease for several years. They have two daughters, Marijo and Charla, and two grandsons, Drew Charles Austermann and Luke Taylor Austermann.

"I would not be here if it weren't for Graham and Geri Williams (who encouraged the Taylors to come to SBU)," Taylor said. "The past 20 years have been wonderful for me. It's been a great joy to serve here, to serve the Kingdom here at SBU.

"It's the hardest job I've ever had, and it's the best job I've ever had. If I could describe the presidency in one word, it would be relentless. You're on all the time. But it's a great job because as president of this university, I have the opportunity to be associated with the finest young people in the world."

Taylor also credited his legacy with outstanding trustees, staff and Cabinet, faculty, students and his late wife and SBU first lady, Judy.

Please note that alumni updates are published in SBU Life in the order they are received, depending on the space available in each issue. Therefore, it may take several months for Keeping in Touch submissions to be printed. Also, we will be happy to list your weddings and babies, but it is our policy not to list engagements or little expectations. www.SBUuniv.edu/alumni

SBU Alumni Association awards scholarships

Four Southwest Baptist University students were recognized during Homecoming 2016 festivities for receiving scholarships from the SBU Alumni Association.

Each year, $2,000 scholarships are awarded to four students. Each is a full-time student at SBU and the child of an SBU graduate. Other qualifications include maintaining a 3.0 cumulative GPA and being an active member of an evangelical church. Since June 1, 2002, the Alumni Association Endowed Scholarship has provided $59,500 in scholarship support.

Recipients

Stephanie Penticuff is a freshman from Springfield, Mo., majoring in marketing with admission into the Master of Business Administration Early Acceptance Program. Her father, Mark, is a 1993 SBU graduate, and her mother, Jill (Warren) Penticuff, is a 1994 graduate. She hopes to share the gospel in the corporate world.

Olivia Grace Harris is a junior from Maumelle, Ark., double-majoring in criminal justice and psychology. Her father, Stephen, graduated from SBU in 1990, and her mother, Lori (Schroeder) Harris, graduated in 1992. After graduation, Olivia Grace plans to attend law school in Little Rock upon graduation and pursue a career as a lawyer.

Allison Locke is a junior from Baxter Springs, Kan. Her mother, Brenda Karnes-Locke, is a 1987 SBU graduate. Allison is excited to be at SBU studying pre-medicine.

Rachel Updegrave, a senior from Wellington, Mo., is majoring in Christian ministry with an emphasis in children's ministry. Her father, David, graduated from SBU in 1990, and her mother, Paula (Greenlaw) Updegrave, graduated in 1991. Rachel hopes to work as a missionary in the United States telling the next generation about Jesus Christ. ■
